

June 12, 2012

Dear Inquiring parents of Robin's Nest Daycare:

Robin's Nest Daycare was recommended to us from a friend at work. I soon discovered that many teachers at my school had used Robin's Nest Daycare for their children as well. We met with Robin and we loved that she had an addition put onto her house with a play room, bedroom, and full bath and it was kept separate from her home. It was decorated with many of the children's pictures that she cared for and bright engaging colors. In the backyard she had several play structures, a picnic table with shade, and toys for the kids to ride on.

My husband and I chose Robin's Nest Childcare because we were looking for someone who offered consistency, interacted with the children, taught morals, respect, and encouraged children as individuals. Of course we wanted all of this within a loving environment with other children for socialization. We found the perfect fit and much more!

There were many tears when we first started, mostly on my part. But Robin helped us transition through it. She was patient with me as the parent transitioning into taking my first child to daycare. She had her system of doing things and shared that with us. She told us how much she loved what she did and it showed as our children blossomed! She always had a reason why she did things the way she did and after 5 years of being with Robin I am so thankful!

Our girls looked forward to going to Robin's. They loved meeting their friends there, going on long walks, and especially going to the neighborhood park with Robin! Often they met up with other day cares at the park too. She taught both of our girls how to pump on the swings! She took the kids trick or treating to the other daycare's in the neighborhood, she helped with potty training (she is an expert), and encouraged our girls to try new foods. She even takes pictures of your children during the day and emails them to you so you can see what new milestones they are embracing! When the girls were old enough, they made simple crafts such as Christmas tree decorations, ADORABLE and kid made! She even prepared my oldest for kindergarten by practicing sight words with the group! I think they were all reading words before kindergarten!

It is with great honor to recommend Robin's Nest Daycare. Robin has been an amazing asset to our family! After spending the last five years with Robin, I have watched her love each child, encourage them, nurture them, and teach them. She has loved our two girls and they have blossomed. She has taught them manners, how to take turns, their ABC's, colors, how to write their names, recognize letters all in a loving environment. She has held them accountable, made them be responsible, caring loving little girls. She has helped us to raise them as children and us as parents. Having Robin in our lives has made me be a better parent. She has been the perfect fit for our family. Her entire family has loved and nurtured our girls! I am so thankful for her and her family; Robin has been a true gift and a much appreciated friend!

Sincerely,

Tamara Timmons