

Dear Inquiring Parents of Robin's Nest,

My husband and I were new to the area and were looking for daycare for our 6 month old twin daughters. A few teachers and co-workers at my husband's work recommend Robin's Nest. We went to meet her and I immediately liked the daycare room. It was a bright, welcoming, and happy atmosphere. I also really liked that she had pictures up of current and past children she has watched. After speaking with her, we felt this was the place where our children would get the love and care they deserved while we were at work.

The first day I dropped them off I was of course nervous and worried about how my girls would react to being away from me. Robin made me feel very comfortable and that there was nothing to worry about. A few hours later I was pleasantly surprised when I saw Robin had texted me a picture of the girls with big smiles on their faces. I knew that they were safe and happy.

My girls are now almost 5 and will be leaving Robin's to attend school full time. They have gained so much during their time with Robin. They have learned many academic things like colors, letters, and shapes, but more importantly, they have learned to be fair and respectful. Robin is very consistent in her discipline with all the kids. As a new mom, I often went to her to ask for help on how to handle certain behavior's at home. She was always so helpful.

My girls have loved their time at Robin's. They always look forward to going there. Robin would walk the kids to the neighborhood park weekly and have play dates with other daycare providers. I loved the projects they created for holidays. The last five years have been wonderful for my children and myself. I've loved getting to know Robin, her husband, and children. There is no doubt in my mind that Robin will now be a part of our lives forever. Our time with her has been very special and invaluable and I am so sad to be leaving.

Sincerely,

Stephanie Riegert
